Stone-Trimmed Cottage

Plan No. HYG-5212

Let it be a starter home, a retirement cottage, a vacation retreat. The exterior's vertical siding accentuates the A-frame look, while stone trim adds rustic appeal. Unbroken panes of glass let the sunlight pour in. An old-fashioned hinged door leads immediately into the bright dining nook, large enough for a proper dining room table. A snack counter defines the kitchen entrance; past it, you'll find another wide window shedding light on efficiently arranged counters and appliances. Back-to-back with the bathroom, the kitchen is part of an economical plumbing core that includes water heater and a stacked washer/dryer. The glory of the cottage is the lovely living room, soaring to a vaulted ceiling. A vertical plane of glass, angled at the top, follows the line of the room from floor to ceiling. A gas-burning corner fireplace invites cozy winter gathers, and an arbor patio beckons in summer. Behind the living room, the neatly square bedroom has its own bright window and a wall of closets.
